Trinity English Language

I love these exams because they truly make students respond with a purpose to communicate.

Luis Manuel Gonzalez Garcia, Teacher,
Escuela Normal No.3 de Toluca, Mexico

Communication skills for the 21st century

Trinity's English language qualifications portfolio focuses on helping learners develop lifelong transferable skills that empower them to thrive in future study and work.

Our experience in communication and performance gives Trinity qualifications the edge, taking learners beyond paper-based grammar and vocabulary exercises. Assessments focus on building real-life communication skills across reading, writing, speaking and listening. Our learners go forward in life with confident English language abilities – in social interactions, academic studies and the workplace.

Designed for learners across all ability and age ranges, our English language qualifications are mapped against the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR), and have also received the prestigious Q Mark from the Association of Language Testers in Europe (ALTE).

SELT tests with Trinity

Trinity has over 13 years of experience as a trusted UK government Home Office approved Secure English Language Test (SELT) provider. We are committed to empowering our learners to be confident and effective communicators, and we take pride in working closely with our associated immigration advisors and experts to help thousands of individuals each year with their UK visa application and transition to life in the UK.

Our trusted tests deliver a positive experience that meets the specific needs of the individual learner. They are designed to be personal and relevant, and our trained team of specialists offers flexible support to help them deliver their best performance.

This was more than just an evaluation exercise – with Trinity's involvement we have been able to improve greatly language skills at school-leaving age.

José Francisco Molina Rubio, Head of the International Educational Programmes Service, Andalucia, Spain

Trinity Drama

Career, study and life enhancing skills through performance

Trinity drama qualifications and assessments are designed to elevate communication and performance skills. We offer disciplines such as Acting (including Acting for Screen), Communication Skills, Musical Theatre, Performance Arts, and Speech & Drama. Through these, learners gain practical experience in presenting, collaborating, and thinking creatively.

Our drama qualifications are accessible to learners of all ages, abilities and confidence levels. With flexible exam formats – including solo, pair and group options – students are encouraged to demonstrate their strengths in ways that suit their learning styles and personalities. Trinity's inclusive, learner-centred approach also allows students to draw from their own cultural backgrounds and personal interests, ensuring a relevant and meaningful learning experience for all.

Drama helps them in English, public speaking, and even future board meetings. It's about learning to present yourself, articulate ideas, and think critically.

Darcy Tindale, Speech and Drama Co-ordinator,
Abbotsleigh Girls' School, Australia

Our assessments reflect real-world scenarios, helping learners build confidence in everything from public speaking and interviewing to teamwork and collaboration. They don't just prepare learners for stage and screen – they uniquely equip them for success in a whole range of academic, professional and personal contexts. Regardless of the specific path a learner takes, their assessment will foster essential skills such as creativity, resilience and interpersonal communication.

Just like practising scales and chord progressions, programming requires daily engagement with code, algorithms and problem-solving. If you step away for a while, it takes effort to get back in rhythm...

Trinity College London gave me so much more than just a musical education. It has helped me understand the value of steady progress, taught me how to perform under pressure and gave me confidence in my ability to learn and grow.

from India Masters in Computer Science student at New York University, USA

Trinity's music qualifications, learning materials and resources support students from beginner to advanced levels and careers in the music industry. Some of our learners go on to study at the top music conservatoires worldwide.

Always encouraging authentic musical expression through performance, we offer assessments across a huge range of instruments and genres. Our syllabuses encompass an inclusive and diverse repertoire – from classical traditions to international contemporary rock and pop hits – and our learner-centred approach ensures accessibility for students of all ages, skill levels and backgrounds.

Learning to play an instrument isn't solely about musical proficiency. It also develops crucial transferable skills such as creativity, confidence and resilience. We recognise this, and our comprehensive, internationally recognised progression framework is designed to develop both musical expertise and vital transferable skills. Our learners are equipped for success in further education and the global workforce, whatever industry they end up working in.

Empowering future-ready generations through education

While academic disciplines remain essential in the modern economy, employers increasingly seek individuals with knowledge beyond the classroom.

Our education solutions cultivate critical human skills. We go beyond knowledge acquisition with solutions that help develop a competitive and engaged workforce:

Active learning

Our syllabuses emphasise real-world applications, boosting student ownership, retention, and motivation.

Communication and collaboration

Our group-based exercises enhance teamwork, empathy and active listening, preparing learners to communicate and collaborate in diverse environments.

Leadership and influence

Confident communication, speaking, debating and influencing skills are at the core of Trinity's syllabuses.

Adaptability and problem-solving

Performance-based learning, public speaking and debating hone learners' articulation, critical thinking and problem-solving skills.

Confidence and resilience

The performance-based skills in our syllabuses build self-confidence and resilience.

Social fluency

Our assessments develop skills in expression, tone, posture and debate, empowering confident social and professional interaction.

Citizenship and responsibility

Critical thinking, active listening and storytelling skills developed through our qualifications enable our learners to become engaged citizens contributing to social cohesion.

Trinity's approach to 21st century human skills for life, study and work

In alignment with global education priorities and workforce development goals

Trinity's performing arts and communications solutions offer multidisciplinary and adaptable pathways for critical skills development. We support an inclusive, equitable and flexible educational model across:
